

CAUTION

Debris on beach from North Sea vessels incident

Small pellets of plastic (nurdles), loose and in charred lumps, have been washed up on this beach following the recent collision of two vessels in the North Sea. We are aware of the situation and are working with the Coastguard and other agencies to assess these materials and plan for their safe removal.

Please do not handle any debris and keep dogs on a short lead.

Clean up should be left to the appropriate authorities who are trained and have the correct equipment and knowledge to manage the situation.

If you come across any nurdles or possible pollution elsewhere along the coast, please report this to Humber Maritime Rescue Coordination Centre on 0344 382 0580 or email zone8@hmcg.gov.uk, providing a 'What Three Words' location or a grid reference if possible.
